

Guidelines for Documenting Speech Disability

1.) A Qualified Evaluator.	A licensed audiologist or licensed speech-language pathologist a6(s)(200 (s))ipoD !

- Narrative or descriptive text providing both quantitative and qualitative information about
- Stepstudent's abilities which acidn he belieful in which standing the student's artifile, postseles has year allowed a filled the student's artifile, but the student's artifile, artifile,
- 4.) Supporting Documentation. While required, the report of the qualified evaluator is by no means the only documentation we can use to better understand and accommodate the student with a learning disability. Other helpful documents are: records of accommodation on standardized tests such as SAT or ACT, high school 504 plans or IEP's.